

About ONWARD

ONWARD is an annual photography exhibition presented by Project Basho exclusively featuring the work of new and emerging photographers with unique vision and talent. Each year the selection for the exhibition is judged by a notable photographer or another professional in the field.

The theme for ONWARD is open, and any photographic medium can be submitted for consideration. Selected photographers' work will be featured in a group exhibition at Project Basho Gallery. Further recognition will be awarded in the form of cash awards and opportunities for exhibition at Project Basho Gallery.

About Juror

Debbie Fleming Caffery's work has been called haunting, poetic, emotional and poignant. Born in southwest Louisiana along the Bayou Teche, she has photographed her native Louisiana, Portugal and Mexico for over 30 years. Her work can be found in the collections of the Smithsonian, the MOMA, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Whitney and the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris. She has also received numerous awards including the first Lou Stoumen Prize in 1996 and a Guggenheim Fellowship in 2005.

About Project Basho

Project Basho is a photography resource center located in Old Kensington in Philadelphia. With the community darkroom as the focus of the program, Project Basho offers classes and workshops on a wide range of topics in photography—from daguerreotype to fine inkjet printing—to lecture series and panel discussions.

Project Basho also houses a gallery space dedicated to the medium of photography. Project Basho Gallery is a place where visually arresting photographs and educated viewers can meet to appreciate the beauty of the craft and the vision of the medium.
